FIRST AMENDMENT - INDIANA

Cabral v. City of Evansville, Ind.

United States District Court, S.D. Indiana, Evansville Division - July 31, 2013 - F.Supp.2d - 2013 WL 3940631

City residents brought Establishment Clause action, challenging city's approval of church's planned two-week display of numerous six-foot crosses on public riverfront property.

The District Court held that display of crosses would convey a message of city's endorsement of Christianity to the reasonable observer, and thus, would violate the Establishment Clause.
