Chicago City Council Orders Independent Review of Finances as Scrutiny Intensifies.

The debate over the city of Chicago's financial struggles — out in the open as never before — took a new turn on Wednesday as the City Council added to the scrutiny.

The Chicago City Council voted 45-5 in a special meeting to give a leading alderperson the authority to hire an outside firm for an independent review of the city's finances.

Alds. William Hall (4th Ward), David Moore (18th Ward), Jason Ervin (28th Ward), Rossana Rodriguez Sanchez and Byron Sigcho-Lopez (25th Ward) voted against the measure.
