Council on Police Training v. State

Supreme Court of Delaware - June 2, 2014 - A.3d - 2014 WL 2466327

Retired state police officer appealed the decision of the Council on Police Training to revoke his certification as a police officer. The Superior Court reversed and remanded the Council's decision. Council appealed.

The Supreme Court of Delaware held that officer's retirement while under suspension was not a sufficient basis to decertify him as a police officer.
