Municipal Finance Law Since 1971

Ballard Spahr: Water Resources Legislation Could Lead to Increase of U.S. Water P3s.

President Obama recently signed into law the Water Resources and Reform Development Act of 2014 (WRRDA). The statute begins to address ways to fund the billions of dollars necessary to update the country's drinking water systems, dam infrastructure, levees, solid waste, wastewater, inland waterways, and ports. The legislation could lead to more widespread financing of water infrastructure projects through P3s.
