

Bond Case Briefs

Municipal Finance Law Since 1971

- Interest Rate Increase Coming For Many Tax-Exempt Borrowers: Holland & Knight
- What do Walt Disney World and the 2018 Tax-Exempt Bond Market Have in Common?
- MSRB Seeks to Establish Advertising Rule for Municipal Advisors and Update Dealer Standards.
- S&P Credit FAQ: Understanding Climate Change Risk and U.S. Municipal Ratings.
- Moody's: Climate Change Adaption and Mitigation Could Affect Cities' Bond Ratings.
- CDFA Launches Federal Financing Webinar Series.
- And finally, Tolstoy's Packing Heat! is brought to us this week by Paiva v. Parella, in which the Supreme Court of Rhode Island noted that, "a local licensing authority need not write a decision rivaling War and Peace in length, but its decision must still address the salient reasoning for the denial of a [concealed firearm] license." Fair enough, but contemplate the hilarity of a requirement that any such decision letter clock in at 1,225 pages. We'd read that.

Copyright © 2026 Bond Case Briefs | bondcasebriefs.com