GFOA School District Roundtable on COVID-19 Financial and Related Impacts.

August 12, 2020 | 1 p.m.-2 p.m. ET

Details:

With the traditional first day of school fast approaching, school districts are hard at work creating plans to begin classes again amid vast uncertainty. Whether classes end up being remote, in-person, or somewhere in between, there are no easy decisions in trying to determine what is best for students, teachers, staff, and the overall community. While plans have been made, re-made and adjusted, nothing seems to be a given in this time of COVID-19, including how to budget and finance a district's strategy for moving forward. This webinar is designed as an opportunity for districts to present questions and hear more about the re-opening plans of a number of districts from across the country - including how classes will resume, the related financial impacts of re-opening, and the process for how their plans and contingency plans were developed as well.
