Navigating the Next Frontier: AI's Role in Reshaping Local Governance - GFOA Webinar

Artificial intelligence (AI) will someday be ubiquitous in government operations. Should workers be threatened? No. What's most important is to understand what AI is, the benefits, and the limits. Join this webinar, October 12, to hear from leading experts from Microsoft, Rutgers, and the City of Columbus on how they utilize AI. Participants will walk away with a better understanding of AI, why human interaction is still important, and how successful organizations in the future will manage AI to make better decisions.
